Pavers and Retaining Blocks

Gammon Retaining Wall System™

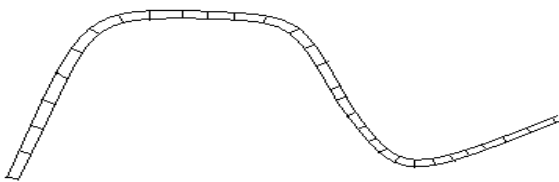

The old world charm of hand worked dry stacked stone as crafted by a stone mason. Random selected, natural stone look blocks in an easy to assemble, high strength concrete modular block system.

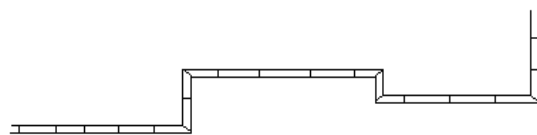

Random Stone Block Pattern

The Gammon Retaining Wall System™ makes it easy to construct convex or concave curves that will add grace, style and strength to any wall design. Corner and end blocks make it very easy to construct 90° corners which will provide added strength for a more formal wall design.

Note:- straight walls will always be weaker and more prone to falling over than walls with curves and corners

Curved Wall

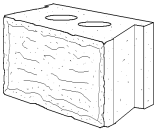

90° corners

The Gammon Retaining Wall System™ has six block sizes to ensure a natural random pattern and with the unique hand cast method there is, about 30 different stone faces to further enhance the natural stone look. Matching stone faced capping and generous step blocks complete the system.

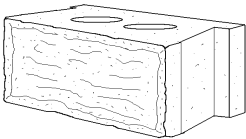

Free standing and parapet walls can also be constructed with the Gammon walling system, simply by filling the cores with concrete and inserting reo bars as each row is stacked and bonded with a thin layer of tile adhesive.

The Kimberley Retaining Wall System™ has been designed to integrate with the Gammon Retaining Wall System™ so that the blocks can be mixed to create corner quoins or a feature base course to a retaining wall.
